One of Ed Morrow's declarations here was enough to show the bent of his mind, when he is not calling upon "Gawd to witness" his intention to do his "patriotic duty" when he becomes Governor. In a burst of burning eloquence he exclaimed "The only way to get a square deal is to get a new deck."

THREE AVIATORS REACH GOALS IN LONG AIR RACE

"FLYING PARSON" FAR IN LEAD AT PACIFIC—CLOSE FINISH AT ATLANTIC END

KIEL BEATS MAJOR SPATZ

Major Lost by Landing in the Wrong Field—Flyers Start Back On October 20.

San Francisco, Oct. 11.—Crossing the continent, 2,700 miles, in 24 hours, 58 minutes and 55½ seconds, actual flying time, Lieutenant B. W. Maynard of Mount Olive, N. C., the flying parson, took first honors by a few hours in the first lap of double transcontinental airplane reliability race by land at San Francisco at 1:27:07, Pacific time, Saturday, while Lieut. E. C. Kiel completed the eastbound trip at 6:35:10 p. m., Eastern time, followed twenty seconds later by Major Carl Spatz, who reached New York first, but made an erroneous landing.

Lieut. Maynard, the tenth to start from Mineola, N. Y., last Wednesday at 9:24:56 Eastern time, required, allowing for difference in time, 67 minutes and 11 seconds more than three days for the trip without flying between sunset and sunrise and after losing several hours at Cheyenne on account of radiator trouble. In addition, he required a half an hour at each control station.

The nearest competitor on the westbound half of the round trip across America was Capt. H. C. Drayton, who was forced to land at Lovelock, Nev., late today on the way to Reno.

As the two eastbound flyers left San Francisco just before 10 a. m., Eastern time, last Wednesday, they required three days, plus nearly nine hours, for their trip, impeded somewhat by snowstorms in the Rocky Mountains.

Following closely on the heels of Capt. Drayton were Lieutenant L. S. Webster, Captain J. O. Donaldson and Lieutenant Alexander Pearson, Jr. The first landed at Seldore, Utah, at 4:09 p. m., mountain time, and Captain Donaldson arrived three minutes later at 4:12. Lieutenant Pearson dropped at the same station at 5:22:55 p. m.

Lieut. F. M. Manselman, pilot of the sixth airplane in the westward race, reached Salt Lake City after dark tonight, but landed without mishap in a field near the city. Captain Harry Smith, who left Cheyenne, Wyo. with Lieut. Manselman, has not been heard from early tonight.

After half circling the aviation field at Presidio, Lieut. Maynard brought his plane to the ground at the end of the first leg of his flight. Lieut. Maynard and Sergt. Klein, observer, literally were pulled from the fuselage of their machine by a throng of admirers, among them Lieut.-Gen. Huater Liggett, commanding the Western Department of the army. "It was a great trip. I enjoyed it immensely," said Lieut. Maynard, on landing. Both members of the plane's crew looked tired and weather-beaten, but they smiled happily and weathered the barrage of compliments.

MEETING AT SOUTH UNION CLOSED WITH 8 ADDITIONS

The revival at South Union, in which the pastor, Dr. H. E. Gabby, was assisted by Dr. Leonard W. Doan for two weeks, closed Sunday night. There were 8 additions to the church and a general revival in interest in the membership. The meeting was "rained out" three nights and much interfered with by weather conditions.

Calls His Hand.

In regard to Morrow's blanket charges on graft at Frankfort, Gov. Black made this fair proposition:

"I ask him to tell the people of Kentucky who is a grafter at Frankfort. The man who makes such charges ought to know who the guilty men are. I say to Mr. Morrow, that if he will start an investigation of any man's conduct, the grand jury ies and petit juries are ready to do their duty, and as long as I am governor no State official fairly convicted will be pardoned by me. Again Gov. Black challenged Morrow to tell whether he opposed the ratification of the Peace Treaty and the League of Nations."

Morrow ought in common honesty and justice name these men who are grafters and who hold unnecessary jobs or he ought to stop talking about them, if they do not exist anywhere save in his fertile imagination

MORROW CAME SAID HIS PIECE

Had a Big Crowd But There Was No Howling Applause At Any Time.

Candidate Edwin P. Morrow spoke Saturday afternoon at the Tabernacle to a large crowd. He was introduced by Judge W. T. Fowler who was presented for that purpose by Capt. Alvan H. Clark, the presiding officer. Judge Fowler said the time had come to use a big stick in Kentucky and Edwin P. Morrow had the courage to use it.

A large part of Mr. Morrow's address was devoted to ridiculing Stanley's Pineville speech. "I earnestly urge the Democratic State Campaign Committee," he said, "to send him throughout the State delivering the same address."

In the main, Mr. Morrow's speech was the same as he has been delivering at other points in Kentucky. He said neither he nor Gov. Black had anything to do with the League of Nations and that President Wilson had said it was not a party issue.

He couldn't blame the Democrats he said, with wanting him to talk about something 3,000 miles away from Kentucky, after the shape they had gotten the State in by their mismanagement.

The Republican candidate charged Democratic administrations with continual wrongs and misdoings, offered Republicanism as a complete remedy and declared that he was sure of election in November. He said the Democrats had failed to redeem their pledges to the people, had been wasteful and extravagant, maintained 314 useless offices, were responsible for the schoolbook trouble, and had been grossly in error in handling the Harkness and Bingham inheritance tax cases.

He declared Gov. Black never could be able to "clean house" at Frankfort.

Mr. Morrow devoted a portion of his speech especially to the negroes in the audience. He dwelt on their patriotism and the "black bosoms bared to Hun bullets," and asserted that the negroes of Kentucky were entitled to good government.

He made an appeal to the large number of Democrats present to bolt their party ticket because he claimed the last candidates for whom they had voted had "betrayed their trust."

Although he spoke to a large crowd, there was at no time any applause that indicated a strong sentiment for him. Except from the colored brethren he got only scattering applause.

ONLY 8,000 OLD WAR VETERANS IN BIG PARADE

REUNION AT ATLANTA ENDS WITH THRILLING MARCH OF AGED HEROES.

MANY ESCORTS IN THE REVIEW

Annual Ball Follows Crowning Event And Men In Gray Leave For Their Homes.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 10.—The Confederate Veterans Reunion of 1919 came to a close tonight with a grand ball at the auditorium armory, but the crowning feature of the day was the sight of the old soldiers themselves marching in their annual parade.

The remnant of Lee's army that marched today was a little more than 8,000 strong, some in uniforms of the old Confederate gray, and others in civilian clothes. The streets, gaily decorated for the occasion, were literally jammed with spectators who cheered and wept and laughed as the heroes of the sixties passed in review, many of them for the last time.

Boy Scouts carried water for the old soldiers and Red Cross ambulances followed in the wake of the various divisions, but few of those who started out to march would accept a ride even though overcome. Here and there veterans dropped out of line and rested on the curb; then joined the next division that came along.

Parade Two Hours Long.

The parade took nearly two hours to pass the reviewing stand, the old soldiers themselves being almost outnumbered by escorts of honor, and members of bands that accompanied them. The band and the machine gun battalion of the Fifth Division of Regulars stationed at Camp Gordon was one of the escorts. Local military schools sent their cadets and various civic and fraternal organizations also were in the line. There were also a few representatives of the Confederate navy, headed by Admiral Wright, of Jacksonville.

General K. M. Van Zandt, commander-in-chief of the veterans, accompanied by Brigadier General Lewis, commandant of Camp Gordon. As a token of esteem for the veterans the regulars on suggestion of their officers saluted the Confederate flags, especially the score or more of bullet torn battle flags that were brought forth again and carried at the head of the companies.

Gaily decorated automobiles bearing maids and sponsors from each of the former Confederate States, and from others where the United Daughters of the Confederacy are represented, added a touch of color and life to the occasion. California was represented, as was West Virginia, Colorado and others. The cars flew the Stars and Stripes and the Stars and Bars together and many veterans carried both flags.

Allied Flags Flutter

Flags of the allied nations also were represented. One company of veterans was headed by a color bearer held up a frame from which floated small banners typifying every nation that went to war with the Central Powers.

At the head of the Gate City Guard of Atlanta, marched two young girls dressed in the hoop skirts and pantalettes of the antebellum days.

Two contingents of veterans, "Co. A" from Memphis, and a Nashville company, were fully equipped, carrying their rifles with the old-time bayonets fixed.

The scene was not entirely military, for the veterans yielded to the spirit of the day and shouted and threw kisses at pretty girls. Others stopped to dance jigs to show that they were not as old as they might seem. Everyone among them seemed to be having the most enjoyable time of his life.

The People's Opportunity.

Kentuckians have never in their lives had a finer opportunity to do the State a real service than they will have November 4. No candidate of any party ever measured up to a higher standard of citizenship than Governor James D. Black. A Christian gentleman, whose life has been an open book; respected and esteemed by his neighbors without regard to party; a lawyer of ability and a successful business man, his candidacy should appeal to those Kentuckians who hold the welfare of the State above any party and especially to those who have fought the battles of Democracy for so many years. Gov. Black has been a Democrat in a section of Kentucky where men were Democrats solely from principle. He is entitled to the vote of every Democrat in Kentucky. He should get the vote of every Independent. If he does that the doom of the Republican millionaire combine is assured November 4th.

NEWSPAPER ADS PAY, YANK BANKERS TOLD

Their Value To Financial Institutions Stressed By Former Chicago Banker.

New Orleans, Oct. 9.—Value of newspaper advertising for banks was stressed by Raleigh Ross, of Minneapolis, former advertising head of the Northern Trust Company of Chicago, in an address today before the seventeenth annual convention here of the American Institution of Banking.

"Newspaper advertising," he said, "has removed the feeling of awe which hindered the banks in former times. The people are brought into close contact with the bank and have grown friendly."

There was no opposition to the selection of Boston as the 1920 convention city.

MAN KILLED AT DAWSON

Madisonville Hustler: Thomas Dodge, aged forty-five, met a horrible death at Dawson Springs Monday when he was struck by a wagon tongue and knocked under a wagon loaded with lumber. His skull was crushed by the wheels and death resulted instantly. The team had been unhitched from the wagon and when it started rolling Mr. Dodge failed to get out of the way in time.

Largest Hog Shipment.

The largest individual hog shipment ever received at Kansas City market, consisting of 949 hogs, which averaged 280 pounds apiece, a total of 265,720 pounds of pork on the hoof, recently was received from a Livingston County, Mo., farmer. The porkers had rail service de luxe, as the 16 cars they occupied were handled as a special livestock train. The extra attention accorded this shipment was worth the trouble, as only three hogs, or about three-tenths were lost.

The Ohio Valley Baptist Association will meet with the church at Sturgis, Ky., on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 21 and 22.

WILSON CAN ACT IN EMERGENCY

DR. GRAYSON SAYS HE WOULD GIVE 'RELUCTANT CONSENT' IN THAT CASE.

PRESIDENT HOLDING HIS OWN

Enters Third Week Of Rest Camp With Faculties In Normal State.

Washington, Oct. 14.—President Wilson continued to hold his own yesterday and entered the third week of the rest cure prescribed by Rear Admiral Carey T. Grayson, his personal physician, with his temperature, pulse, respiration, heart action and blood pressure at a normal stage.

Moreover, in making this announcement through the daily 10 o'clock bulletin Dr. Grayson added informally that the president's condition was such that should an emergency arise requiring immediate attention by the executive, Mr. Wilson would be altogether capable of forming instant judgment and taking decisive action.

Dr. Grayson also said if such eventuality arose, he would give a "reluctant consent" for the president to take the needed action. As far as possible, however, the physicians attending Mr. Wilson will continue to insist that he remain quiet and not give his attention to governmental matters.

Today's was the most informative statement issued since the president was taken ill more than two weeks ago and the impression prevailed that the details concerning his condition were given in lieu of specific denials of the rumors current in Washington that his physical condition was such that he would be incapacitated from attention to his official duties for some time.

THE STRIKE EPIDEMIC

Strikers held a meeting at Gary, Ind., Monday and E. E. Lockwood, a speaker, predicted that a general strike would be called throughout the country if the steel strike shows signs of failure.

Federal troops on duty at Gary were entertained in a number of Gary homes Monday. The troops are overseas veterans of the 4th and 6th Regular Army Divisions.

Some official action, either by President Wilson or his cabinet to avert a threatened strike of soft coal miners called for November 1 is expected from the White House. Officials regard the matter as one requiring governmental action, if the other efforts to avert the tie-up of the coal mines should fail.

NEVER in the history of the world has there been such a livestock famine as exists now. Government specialists tell us that there are more than 100,000,000 less farm animals in the world now than when the Great War began in 1914. Unless immediate steps are taken to plug this gap, America will lose the most wonderful opportunity for trade advancement we have ever been offered. Our Fair is offering liberal premiums to encourage more local interest in live stock raising.

IN PETROGRAD

All Who Fail to Answer Questions Are Slain.

FOOD PRICES ARE FABULOUS

Houses Are Under Guard and Women Are Shot When Their Husbands Are Suspected of Counter-Revolt—Wives and Families of Army Officers Are Kept in Special Concentration Camps.

It is hardly possible to recognize Petrograd today owing to the terrible changes within a month. Terror has so increased that nobody speaks in the streets, trains, or public places. People regard one another suspiciously, fearing informers. Soldiers especially avoid speaking to one another, proving the prevalence of provocateurs of the Red army, writes John Pollock in New York Sun.

Social life to all intents has ceased. In every house there is only one entry, either the front or back door being constantly shut. At whichever open end a communist sentry is posted, he demands of all newcomers first their identity papers, also their right to walk in the street, and then questions them as to whom they are going to see, who lives in the family, what they do, what is the business of the visitor.

If the answer is satisfactory the visitors pass in; if unsatisfactory they are arrested, taken to the commissariat and thence to the fortress of Peter and Paul, where generally they are shot without question. The recent executions carried out at Peter and Paul are no longer in ones and twos, but in whole groups by a special machine gun detachment. The bodies are mostly thrown into the Neva. Sometimes they are fished out by militiamen. The militia now is armed with old-fashioned carbines. All rifles sent to the front also are reduced in numbers.

Passes Needed After 11.

After 11 o'clock none may leave the house without a pass signed by Peters, and only given to comellar workers on eight business and agents of the extraordinary commission, who form the sole night traffic in motorbikes conducting perquisitions. These are so thorough that if arms, even in a holster, are found concealed in garret or court, the president of the house committee is shot. The informant knows a case where a whole family was shot because a field glass case was found in a flat. The universal terror makes the people repulse visitors even when bearing help or letter, fearing to be compromised on counter-revolutionary denunciations. Jakovleva, the notorious murderess, chief of the extraordinary commission, has gone to Moscow and has been replaced by an individual bearing the alias "the bear."

In the army all officers without families are dismissed from the higher commands and sent to the rear. They are replaced by men whose families have been taken hostages. The wives and families of officers are kept in special concentration camps near Moscow, whither they were dispatched last week.

Many women have been shot when their husbands were suspected of counter-revolution. The officers are all disarmed except those known to be communist party workers. Soldiers have the right to shoot officers on the bare suspicion of counter-revolution.

The immediate cause for the increase in terror is the abortive movement at Krasnavora, enraging bolsheviks and inspiring them to devote all their efforts to gutrot the White organizations in Petrograd.

Among officers and workmen the bolsheviks are taking the opportunity to arrest all foreigners remaining in Petrograd, including women.

Allies Seem Powerless.

There is terrible disillusion in Petrograd with the allies, who seem only to threaten and unable to deal a serious stroke, thus allowing the thousands of patriots to be slaughtered and inflicting mental torture. A month ago the universal question in Petrograd was: "Will the allies give food if they take the city?" Now the question of food has ceased to interest, though starvation is at hand. The only question is: "Will the allies come quickly? If not, then let them give over altogether. The present state is unbearable. It is better to die quietly of starvation than thus be hounded to death."

Owing to similar cause peasant risings, common as winter throughout the country, now are seldom. Owing to the frequency with which the peasants joined the Whites, who afterward retreated, all the peasant families were slaughtered simultaneously.

Following the feverish efforts on the part of the bolsheviks to prepare against the surrender of Petrograd on the eleventh, as previously telegraphed, the civil evacuation was completed by the twenty-second. All received material at the factories and military stores of secondary importance were evacuated and all telephone communicators dispatched to Moscow, but on the nineteenth an order came from Moscow to evacuate only parts of the machinery, not the benches and permanent fittings, reducing the extent of the work of the chief commissary. A line of trains is ready instantly to flee to the Volga towns.

A phalanx of piked agitators has been brought to Petrograd for secret of the railway has been engaged taken over for evacuation and other military purposes. Passenger traffic has been abolished; therefore packmen are unable to import the country but essential contraband formerly received in Petrograd.

The following were the prices ruling last week: Butter, 20 rubles ($12.50) a pound; bread, 45 to 50 rubles ($28.13-$31.75); potatoes, 20 ($12.50); meat, 20 to 100 rubles ($56.25-$62.50); sugar, tea and coffee are unobtainable; 100 cigarettes cost 150 rubles ($93.75). Many so-called social living rooms, otherwise municipal soup kitchens, have closed for want of provisions. Those open give only slops; people go about almost in rags.

It is estimated that 120,000 rubles (normally $75,000) monthly is required to support life per head. Work is unobtainable and the intelligent have burned their remaining furniture for cooking. Probably not above 4,000 of the civil population remain. Peculation and corruption on the part of the bolsheviks are unabated. Recently a great quantity of clothing and boots which were collected together on the pretext that they were for the central store, was destroyed by fire.

It is suspected to have been incendiarism covering traces of large defalcations.

Situation Growing Worse.

The following shows how much worse the situation has grown:

A month ago the theaters and cinemas were full despite the fact that seats in the latter cost 16 rubles ($10). Now this last fiction of cultured life has given out and the public in terror of arrests and perquisitions have deserted the theater, preferring anxious and undisturbed solitude.

As a result of bolshevik tyranny in the country an entirely new bandit have appeared. The bolsheviks mobilized all the young peasants, but a large number deserting have formed roving bands inhabiting the woods, living by robbery and falling on parties of soldiers, farmers and villages. Under an elected "Robin Hood" these bands are taking the place of the former peasant revolts and are known as the green army. They are a veritable thorn in the side of the bolsheviks and are reminiscent of the activities of the little Russian gaidemaki, with whom they have a similarity in that they kill all communists mercilessly.

The bolsheviks still rely largely on sailors to restore the weak places in the front, bribing them with enormous pay and privileges. The sailors are covered with diamonds and pearls. But, according to a secret telegram received in Petrograd from the propaganda section in Moscow, a considerable force of German communists shortly is expected, also a party of Hungarian officers, with the object of forming a battalion of Letts and Chinese partly for the Finnish front.

There is reason to believe the Germans are repeating the offer made to Admiral Koltchak at the beginning of the year, which he loyally rejected and will again undoubtedly reject, but the Russian peasants tortured under the bolshevik heel may be unable to control their desperate impatience. Their cry is "Save us or let another save us."

Europe's future depends on our response to their supplications.

LEGLESS MAN DRIVES CAR

Traveled a Long Way to Show Gratitude for Hospital Work.

Though he has no legs, Nat L. Milgram of Philadelphia motored to Altoona, Pa., to thank friends for what they did for him when he was a patient in a hospital there two years ago. Milgram was a member of Col. George Kemp's Third regiment when it was sent to this section for guard duty just after the United States entered the war. While sergeant of the guard at Earhope, Somerset county, he was run down by a train and both legs were crushed below the knee. He was treated at Cumberland and later at Altoona and then sent to his home in Philadelphia.

Equipped with artificial limbs, he walks very well. While driving to the home of Rabbi Moses J. S. Abels, not being familiar with the streets, he attempted to descend a steep avenue not used by autos and his car was wrecked but he escaped injury.

When Milgram returns to Philadelphia he will take up the study of law.

BUILT HOMES FOR VICTIMS

Specialty Constructed Apartments in England for War Cripples.

Specialty constructed apartments are being built for disabled soldiers in London. Elevators are provided for the wheeled chairs, and balconies and rooms are so constructed that chairs can be run in and out without difficulty.

In addition there are communal washing and drying rooms, an entertainment room and a recreative workshop where the men can amuse themselves making models or following any hobby. Many of the men already are installed with their wives and families.

Prays for United States.

At least one foreigner who has been granted his first papers for citizenship commanded the respect of County Clerk Williams at Elyria, O. When handed the document he got on his knees, removed his hat and prayed for his adopted country. Williams has issued hundreds of papers, but this is the first time prayer ever accompanied the transaction.

DENIAL RE- FUTED BY RHEA

Federal Reporter Shows Morrow Was In Famous Prosecution of Grant Co. Farmers.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 13.—Thomas S. Rhea, State Chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee, has issued a statement supporting his charge that Edwin P. Morrow, Republican candidate for Governor, prosecuted the cases against five tobacco growers of Grant county who were charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust law by combining to secure better prices for the tobacco they raised.

Morrow, in a speech at Winchester Wednesday night, denied that he was in these cases.

Mr. Rhea quotes the Federal Reporter on him.

Mr. Morrow also calls on Morrow to answer two questions:

These are:
DID ED MORROW PROTEST AGAINST THE PARDON OF THE GRANT COUNTY FARMERS JUST BEFORE THEY WERE PARDONED BY PRESIDENT TAFT?

DID MORROW, WHILE UNITED STATES DISTRICT ATTORNEY, PROSECUTE THE TOBACCO OR ANY OTHER TRUST?

What Mr. Rhea Says:

Mr. Rhea's statement follows:
"Mr. Morrow, in his speech at Winchester, called in question the statement made by Congressman Cantrell and myself, when we charged that he prosecuted five farmers and tobacco growers under the Sherman anti-trust law. And he says that if we had investigated we would have known the facts.

"I have made an investigation, and find on page 1, volume 192, Federal Reporter, that on December 5, 1911 the case of the United States against John S. Steers and other farmers, was affirmed in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, and this record shows that the following attorneys participated in the trial of this case:

E. W. Dickerson (Clare, Dickerson and Clayton, and Myers, on the brief,) for the plaintiff in error; E. P. Grosvenor, special Assistant Attorney General (James A. Fowler Assistant Attorney General, and EDWIN P. MORROW, United States Attorney, on the brief,) for the United States.

"Will Mr. Morrow deny that this is a correct record of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals? If this is a true record, then Mr. Morrow did prosecute Mr. Steers and other farmers under the Sherman anti-trust law.

"Mr. Morrow, tell the people of Kentucky whether or not, while you were United States District Attorney, you wrote a letter protesting against the pardon of these Grant county farmers a short time before they were pardoned by President Taft?"

"Mr. Morrow, did you, while United States District Attorney prosecute the Tobacco Trust, or any other trust?"

"And why didn't you prosecute the trust which was preventing the farmers of this State from obtaining a fair price for their tobacco?"

Russian Leader Said to Be Inhuman

A dispatch from Bern, Switzerland, says Gen. Denekine, the Cosack leader who is fighting the Russian Reds, has encountered an uprising in Ukraine and he is accused of having shot 40 women in one village whose husbands had taken up arms and that three others had been hanged. The massacre of 200 prisoners was charged against him.

SOLIDLY BACK- ING MORROW

Covington, Newport and Lexington Boose Dispensers All For Republican Candidate.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 13.—"Dry Republicans in Kentucky should take notice that they have been sold out by their campaign manager," said Thomas S. Rhea, chairman of the Democratic state campaign committee, Monday. "We have information that not only are the Louisville saloonkeepers united behind Morrow but the same thing is true of Lexington, Covington and Newport where reports show almost the same condition of affairs—continued and almost open violation of the war.

Reformers in Kentucky, which has not taken a single step to enforce the law. On the contrary it was brought out in some of the trials last week that a policeman saw a saloonkeeper sell liquor to a soldier in uniform and did not arrest him, saying when asked in court why he did not ask at once, that he 'had no instructions.' Ed Morrow's picture decorates nearly every bar room in Louisville. He is personally popular with most of the saloon men, who know him well. The same is true of the saloon men in Covington, Newport and Lexington.

"If the dry Republicans do not want to let the Louisville machine sell them out they have their remedy. They can vote for a candidate who is as dry in practice as he is in theory and has always been so. The saloonkeepers of Kentucky do not know Governor Black. The only time they have ever seen him has been when he was making a speech which they may have happened to attend and his speeches have not been of a character to attract that line of every criminal element in favor of Morrow for Governor, conditions have become so rotten that the Kentucky Post denounces editorially the lack of civic pride of the officials in permitting 'the riffraff of Cincinnati' to make a pleasure resort out of Northern Kentucky towns. The Post means that 'the riffraff of Cincinnati' comes across the river to get drunk and celebrate at the expense of the reputation for quiet and decency of these cities.

"There is not a particle of doubt that a deal is on between the Republican campaign managers and the saloons, a deal by which their violations of the war-time prohibition law will not be interfered with in the cities the Republicans control on condition that the saloon men vote against Black for Governor. It remains to be seen whether the decent dry Republicans of Kentucky will submit to a deal of that kind with the saloonkeepers. I do not believe that they will and we have now reports that the evidence of the deal already given the press has resulted

"It would seem that one question to be decided November 4 is this: Shall the prohibition law be enforced in this State or shall violators of the law succeed in their plans to elect a Governor of Kentucky? The only correct way to answer is to vote for James D. Black and the straight Democratic ticket. That will mean the sure enough end of saloon domination in Louisville and in Kentucky."

Moses Airs His Knowledge.

Senator Moses, of New Hampshire wrote a letter to his home saying that President Wilson's condition was such that he could not be entirely restored to health, and the letter was published, creating much discussion at Washington. No official announcement has been made of the President's real condition, though the Moses diagnosis is generally and specifically denied.

The game was played in a rain storm and the gridiron was in a soft, mushy state, according to the Owensboro papers. The local team played Mimms, Acree and W. Radford and was also handicapped by the muddy field.

The Owensboro Messenger states that most of the breaks of the game went Owensboro's way.

Ty Cobb has played his last game of professional ball and will go to Georgia to sell automobile tires. That goes without saying that Ty will have the best Ty-re on the market.

Means are insisting not only on fighting the present campaign on State issues, but on making those issues the issue of four years ago, when the people, after due deliberation, decided that whatever the faults of Owsley Stanley they preferred him to Ed Morrow. It is not possible for them, however, to avoid the consequences of Republican war on the President in the United States Senate. The substance of that fight against President Wilson is stated succinctly by powerfully in the address of Congressman Alvin W. Barkley as chairman of the Democratic State Convention when he said:

"And when this army had driven the enemy back at Belleau Wood, at Chateau Thierry, at Fismes, at St. Mihiel, in the Argonne Forest and all the other important spots where American blood sanctified the soil of France, and that enemy with broken sword and flag of truce sued for peace on terms laid down by the Commander-in-Chief of that victorious army, we see these same Republican sustainers and upholders seeking to discredit the President of the Nation and the spokesman of their country in a foreign land, where he had gone amid the grateful acclamations of a burdened world to help restore the peace of nations and gather up again the fragments of civilization. We see them by every contemptible device which demagogues display seeking to hinder, thwart, to intimidate, to belittle and discredit the President of this great nation in the hope that his efforts to vindicate the cause for which our nation fought might come to naught. And when, after months of weighty counsel and profound deliberations among the representatives of those who had won the war, the greatest peace treaty ever penned since man ascended from the depths of savagery and laid before the world for its approval, we see that same group of envious men seeking to emasculate it and tear its vitals to shreds while the world waits over a volcano for the return of peace."

The people of Kentucky want that treaty ratified. They want war made as nearly impossible as can be for the future. For that reason they favor the League of Nations. Mr. Morrow, as quoted by William C. Shinnick, one of the most reliable and dependable newspaper men in the State, seems to be against it. The people will decide whether it is an issue November 4th when they elect Governor Black, who favors the treaty and the League, over Mr. Morrow, who "seems to be against it."

RED CROSS DRIVE NOV. 2-11

In order to complete its war obligations at home and abroad the American Red Cross will need $15,000,000 and is taking measures to raise this amount from surplus of the various chapters so that the drive from November 2-11 may be purely a membership drive and the funds raised may be used in carrying out the After War Activities of the organization.

The present membership is about 20,000,000, and this number has been taken as a basis for the 1920 enrollment, but it is hoped there will be more. Subscribing membership has been discontinued, and those desiring the Red Cross Magazine will subscribe for it separate from the $1 annual dues, the subscription price being one dollar. Fifty cents of every one dollar membership will be retained by the chapter, and fifty cents will go to the national organization.

The drive will open with sermons on the Red Cross in all the churches on November 2, and will close with final reports to national headquarters on November 11.

Why Stings Hurt.

The pain caused by the sting of nettles is due partly to formic acid and partly to a chemical resembling snake poison. Our nettles are comparatively harmless; but in India, Java and elsewhere, there are varieties the painful effects of which last weeks, and in some cases months, like snake-bites.

A DANGEROUS CRISIS IS COMING FOR PRESS

In an article in the Evansville Courier, the newspaper crisis is thus discussed:

"The condition of the market for white paper—on which newspapers are printed—is highly nervous, even panicky. Never in history was there so great a demand. This comes not alone from publishers, but from job printers, whose business is said to be 90 per cent above normal. To meet the overwhelming demand there is only an average output—practically the same production as prevailed in 1915.

For five years there has been no home building program, and the result is that hundreds of thousands of Americans are homeless. Many live in tents. Residences everywhere are selling at a big premium.
Rents are up.

So it is with print paper. No new mills have been built for a long time and few new paper machines installed in old plants. The forests have receded from the mills and pulp wood is harder to secure. Labor is dear and inefficient, producing less constantly, and fuel is nearly doubled in price. It is said a ton of coal is required to produce a ton of paper, and coal shortage at times has caused mill shutdowns.

A few weeks ago the Courier took its readers into its confidence, telling of our paper cost increases. At that time there was a little surplus paper—very little—on the market.
The price, of course, was enormously high—160 per cent over 1916.
Today's quotations are considerably higher and there is no surplus. The situation is desperate for many publishers and the suspension of scores of weak papers is eminent. Unfortunately the struggling country newspaper, so vital a force for good in many sections, is disastrously affected. Over 2,000 such papers quit because of high costs in 1917 and 1918 and hundreds of others must soon close their plants.

The Courier, with other Evansville papers, will be provided with print, but, with all contemporaries, the cost will be enormous.

Only by the most rigid economies can newspapers pass safely through what an expert terms "the greatest crisis in the history of American papers." The advertising increases now being put in effect by the Courier will not cover the single item of labor advances, not to mention paper and metal and other increases. Two Terre Haute papers this week have advanced their subscription prices 50 per cent and in many other cities advances are imminent. The dollar a month daily is on the way, but the Courier will hold its subscription price down to the last possible moment."

JEFF DAVIS OBELISK

BUILDING FUND IS STILL SHORT
—$30,000, SAYS PRESIDENT

W. B. HALDEMAN.

WORK STOPPED BY THE WAR

Gen. Geo. M. Littlefield, of Texas, Has Given $50,000 Towards the Erection.

In a statement to the United Confederate Veterans, in session at Atlanta, General W. B. Haldeman, of Louisville, asserted that a least $30-000 more was needed to complete the Jefferson Davis Memorial at Fairview, Ky., in addition to the $18,000 on hand and already pledged.

It is planned to complete the memorial and park containing it on the anniversary of Davis' birth, June 2, 1920, but Gen. Haldeman said it would require energetic efforts. He said:

"I prefer to make my appeal to the masses for the sum needed, $30-000, and not make it solely to a few wealthy men, for I believe that the people of the great South will promptly make response and give the world full knowledge of their
dent of the Confederate States."

The project of this monument began and work had started before the United States was at war. The war conditions have caused the Jefferson Davis Home Association, which is building the monument, to face many difficulties which made it impossible to have the monument ready for dedication of Jefferson Davis' birthday in June 1918, as had been expected. However 175 feet of the total of 350 for the monument had been completed when the work was suspended until the war ended. In a statement shortly before the illness that caused his death, Gen. Bennett H. Young, first president of the Association, said that increase in cost labor, material and transportation added 50 per cent to the original cost estimates. Additional money had to be raised. It was impossible to stop work without imperiling all that had been constructed. Gen.
Geo. W. Littlefield, of Austin, Tex., who had already given $40,000 toward the monument, announced that he would give $10,000 more as soon as the balance necessary for completion was arranged. This was provided for, but proved inadequate under present conditions and hence the appeal of Gen. Haldeman, Gen.
Young's successor.

The draft made such inroads on the working force on the monument in 1917 that if the prison commission had not given the services of fifteen men work could not have been continued as long as it did.

The monument was well represented among the fighters in France.
A third of the original working force went into the army. Samuel F. Creelius, of Louisville, designer of the monument and original engineer, was in France with the engineers a year and was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel. Ernest Mc-Cullough, of Chicago, the concrete expert, who was consulting engineer, was also in France with the engineers.

While the monument is half done in elevation, it is much more than half done, as the obelisk grows smaller as it ascends and the immense foundations required a great deal of work below the surface.

Cicada a Dainty Feeder.

The real locust is an indiscriminate eater, grain fields, cornfields, meadows, pastures, weed patches—everything falls before him. The periodical cicada is dainty almost beyond belief. It was long believed that in the adult stage it took no nourishment at all. But the "seventeen-year locust" does eat while in the adult age, its diet being confined to the juices of plants, sucked out in very small quantities and without causing injury.

Cloth From Pineapples.

Askle from its edible qualities the pineapple is little known in this country, says Popular Mechanics Magazine.
In China, however, it is especially cultivated for the use of the leaves in making cloth. The fiber is extracted from the leaves by a simple process and made into thread. It is then run on bobbins and spools and is ready for weaving, the old native looms being employed.

BUDGET, A SCIENTIFIC STEP MADE

Washington, D. C.—A national budget system, a scientific step forward in the interest of national economy, is about to come before Congress in the form of a bill to be reported to the House of Representatives by the appropriations committee. Although a stubborn fight is expected to be made upon it by old President Wilson has reached a point in his convalescence where he looks upon his doctor as a tyrant without any sense.

time Congressional privateers, jealous of their historic privilege to spending the government's money with lavish hands, it is expected that the measure will pass. As President Wilson has consistently urged the enactment of such a law there is no question of his approval.

Democratic and Republican leaders of progressive tendencies has realized that something must be done to abate the waste of money that is annually appropriated by Congress, hence the efforts for budget legislation in the 66th Congress have so far met with less opposition than ever before. Most of the other large nations of the earth are administered on the budget system and the United States has been practically alone in its legislative appropriation system.

The bill as at present drawn will differ materially from the budget laws of other nations, this being due to the difference in the American style of government and placing of responsibilities. Former President Taft, an ardent advocate of a budget, and Carter Glass, Secretary of the Treasury, another espouser of the project, have been heard by the committee and their views obtained as to what they believe the bill's salient features should be.

The United States Government has at the present time a law the revision of estimates, but it contains no provisions for the machinery necessary for investigation of the desirability of the recommendations.

The budget bill now being evolved by the House appropriations committee becomes a law there will be two major officials in charge of the work. First, there will be a director of the bureau of the budget, or some similar title, who would be appointed by the President. His salary will be $10,000 a year and he will have an assistant at $7,500. He will be assigned a sufficient force to investigate all claims for appropriations and to keep tab on the necessities of the various departments, not only from month to month, but day to day.

The director of the budget would be directly under the President, and on him the chief executive would largely depend for his departmental estimates and general information.

The other official will be styled the auditor-general. He, too, will be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate and it is planned that he be subject to removal only by resolution of both Senate and House for misconduct, incapacity or such other cause. This would remove this important office beyond the reach of politics. His salary would be commensurate with that of the budget director, and he also would have a suitable staff. The business of the auditor-general would be to check the appropriations, revenues and expenditures of the government, so that Congress may obtain at a moment's notice figures on the state of the national finances and everything relative to expenditures.

It is considered possible that Congress may recommend, or insist, upon a joint committee of supervision of everything concerning the budget. If done this will be a sop to the old-timers who today resent any interference with their ancient powers of disbursing the public money. As a matter of fact, the auditor-general plan has been worked out with the idea of securing to Congress the control of all expenditures, but this may not satisfy some Senators and Representatives.

The departmental estimates will be called under the proposed law to the attention of Congress by the director of the bureau of the bureau of the budget, as stated, while the auditor-general, on the part of Congress, will report on their practicability as regards the prospective revenues, state of the treasury, etc.

"A SPLENDID TONIC"

Says Hixson Lady Who, On Doctor's Advice, Took Cardui And Is Now Well.

Hixson, Tenn.—"About 10 years ago I was..." says Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place. "I suffered with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side..."

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there.

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid female tonic.

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should surely help you, as it has so many thousands of other women in the past 40 years. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, sleeplessness, tired-out feeling, are all signs of womanly trouble. Other women get relief by taking Cardui. Why not you? All druggists.

conference the following fundamentals:

1. The right of wage-earners and employers to organize and bargain collectively.

2. Minimum eight-hour day, six day week, with Saturday half-holiday encouraged and overtime discouraged.

3. Payment of a living wage.

4. Same pay for women and men for equal work.

5. Prohibition of labor for children under sixteen.

6. Formation of a national conference board to systematically review industrial relations and conditions.

7. Prohibition of immigration for two years and when unemployment conditions are normal, but at no time to permit immigration in excess of the nation's ability to Americanize incoming foreigners.

Unfortunately none of these "fundamentals" touch the vital point of increasing production, the first essential to restoring normal living conditions. On the other hand three of the "fundamentals" are to reduce production by shortening hours, limiting employment and prohibiting increase of laborers. The first interferes with private contracts and the sixth would create a board to disturb the relations of capital and labor. The third and fourth points are reasonable and just.

Caloric Quality is Your Protection

Over 50,000 homes in the United States heartily endorse Caloric quality. The owners know the merits of the Original Patented Pipeless Furnace. They have daily proof that it correctly applies Nature's own law of circulated heat, that it saves 35% of the fuel and that its Ironclad Guarantee of comfort and economy is always made good by its performance.

Caloric success is due to its principles of construction. The Caloric is especially designed for pipeless heating—the original. It is not a pipe furnace with a casing, nor is it a makeshift adapted to meet a new demand. The best efforts of scientifically trained engineers resulted years ago in this new type furnace, which has been refined and improved until it embodies those principles necessary to your satisfaction not found in imitations, because they are fully protected by patents. There is as much difference in pipeless furnaces as in horses—you can buy quality or you can get cheapness, which costs more in the long run.

Let Us Show You

the Caloric and explain its exclusive features. Then you will never be satisfied with any other and will know that it represents the most for the money. You will not make the mistake of a poor investment when you understand why the Caloric is so superior, why it stands alone in leadership in this field and why imitations cannot produce its satisfaction to users.

The Caloric can be installed quickly in old and new houses. It burns coal, coke, wood or gas. Clean, fire-proof, well made and fully guaranteed.

Come in and get the free book "Progress," which tells all the facts about pipeless heating. Study the question and let us show you how easily the furnace can be put into your house.

ALLIED TOBACCO LEAGUE FORMED; FIGHT W. C. T. U.

Will Combat Efforts To Extend Prohibition to Leaf.

New York, Oct. 13.—Leaders of every branch of the tobacco industry, which includes growers and bankers as well as leaf men, warehouse men, jobbers and retailers, have organized to fight the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and will incorporate under the laws of Kentucky as the Allied Tobacco League of America. Branches will be formed throughout the country.

The temperance organization, it is said, has filed with the Secretary of State of Oregon, a petition to make the sale of cigarettes and tobacco unlawful after January 1, 1921. Severe penalties for non-observance of the law are provided in the petition.

According to organizers of the new opposition organization, it is just such drastic measures as this that it will fight.

The officers of the tobacco organization are:

W. D. Spaulding, president of the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Exchange; Charles Whitrock, vice president; William S. Goldenberg, treasurer; George B. Engel, treasurer, and Ernest Orr, official organizer and field secretary.

WORLD'S SUPPLY OF LIVESTOCK AGAIN IS AT PRE-WAR MARK

Losses in Western Europe Are Balanced by Gains in Other Sections.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The world's supply of cattle, sheep and swine is approximately what it was at the outbreak of the European war, according to a report today by the Department of Agriculture. Losses in Western Europe, have been balanced by gains in other countries.

The two experts sent by the Department to investigate the situation in Europe were of the opinion, however, that American meat exports dropped to pre-war figures before European herds had been entirely restored.

Many factors also tend to limit the money European countries wish to send out for food purchases.

Name Your Men, Ed.

Governor Black has very properly asked Ed Morrow to name the men on the State payroll who ought not to be there. Morrow says there are 314 of them in places created by the "Stanley administration," for them Gov. Black, in his speech at Hazard suggests that Morrow name as many as a dozen of the 314 he says are on the payroll.

"Mr. Morrow says there are 314 names on the State payroll that ought not to be there," said the governor. "If that is true, those employees should be done away with. I am entitled to know, and you taxpayers are entitled to know who these 314 are. Mr. Morrow, if you can't name them all, give us the names of a dozen of them."

He possesses an unusually good voice and presented the issues in a manner to rank him high among the campaign orators for eloquence and effectiveness.

JOIN THE AMERICAN LEGION

Herschel A. Long.

For the past month there has been a drive throughout the whole country to increase the membership of the American Legion to one million members. On November 11th the first National Convention meets at Minneapolis, and it is hoped by that date one million members will be enrolled.

Our own local chapter is doing its bit and is trying to increase its membership and thus help in the great work. To date about sixty names have been enrolled. This is a very small proportion of the sixteen hundred veterans of the great war in our county.

The American Legion represents one of the potential powers for good in this country. It is non-political in character, every man stands up on the same level whether he be a major-general or a buck private. Gen. Pershing in a recent address before the Legion in Madison Square Garden voiced his attitude when he said, "The American Legion must be a non-political organization and stand for 100 per cent. Americanism."

The preamble of the constitution adopted at St. Louis shows the purpose for which the Legion was organized:

"For God and country we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate one hundred per cent. Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to calculate a sense of individual obligation to the community, State and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion and mutual helpfulness."

We are a people of many nations. Except the American Indians most of our people are of European descent. All nationalities are represented. It is some job to melt this heterogeneous mass into an indissoluble whole. Many creeds and isms slip in—many of them harmful and dangerous.

If the American Legion lives up to the preamble of its constitution, it will stand as a solid rock of support against Bolshevism, Anarchism, and lawlessness of any kind. It will promote the Americanization of the people who live here now and those who may come at a future date to make their home in this land of freedom and opportunity.

The American Legion has already stood one test and made good. In the recent Omaha riots 400 Legion members volunteered their services to protect the city at a time when the police forces were powerless to suppress the elements of disorder.

Major-General Leonard Wood who directed their activities, in a public statement said: "The American Legion acted promptly. Its members were all the more loyal and devoted in support of the law because of their training and experience."

They gave a good example of what can be expected of this patriotic body of 4,000,000 men whenever the lawless elements threaten life or property or attempt to overturn the constituted authorities."

Let every man who served in the naval or military service of the United at any time during the Great War enroll his name in the American Legion and thus become one of the cogs in the great organization which is to promote "100 per cent. Americanization" above everything else.

The Baptist "Sky Pilot."

Lieut. B. W. Maynard, the Baptist preacher of Mt. Olive, N. C., who has won the trans-continental air race will return to the ministry as soon as he is mustered out of the army. His wife and her two little girls, five and four years old, have been living at Minneola, N. Y. since Lieut. Maynard was assigned to the Mitchel Field.

The daring flyer is only twenty-seven years old, having been born in Morgan, N. C., in 1892. He attended the Wake Forest Park Theological Seminary in that State and held a pastoral charge there while studying for the ministry. He has been flying over a year and a half, mostly in France, where he was a test pilot. On one occasion he tested 22 planes in a single morning.

He holds a "looping" record, having completed 360 consecutive loops in sixty minutes without losing altitude.

TRUTH ABOUT THE PRESIDENTS CONDITION

Washington, October 13.—Rumor is a fugitive and intangible thing, out judging the inquiries and tales which have come here from the country-at-large concerning the true nature of President Wilson's illness gossip has attributed every conceivable ailment known to man to the distinguished patient who lies sick at the white house, says Correspondent David Lawrence.

Many persons who have been bitterly opposed to the president's policies and who have imagined even before the President suffered a nervous breakdown that his ideas were irrational, to say the least, have not hesitated to jump at the conclusion that Mr. Wilson's mental balance has been affected by his recent labors. Others even more sympathetically inclined forgive some of his intemperate remarks on his western trip on the ground that he must have been exhausted by his experiences in the Paris conference and that he had discarded much of his previous poise and calmness.

But the truth is not difficult to discover. In any event, the president has not suffered anything that has impaired or will impair in the slightest degree, his mental faculties.

Fear the Possibilities.

It was a fear of what might happen rather than any excitement over what had happened that caused the president's physician to call off the western trip. The president's illness is of such a simple character that it is readily explained. Mr. Wilson was on the train for nearly a month. Prior to that he had used himself up at Paris and before that in the most arduous labor conceivable in directing America's part in the war. But constant exercise has sustained him. He got none of it on the trains, of course, and practically none when he stopped to make speeches.

Soon he became restless and sleepless. It was with difficulty that he would wear through a night. Then his digestive organs began to be affected and, lastly, his appetite disappeared. Although he had a harassing cough—consequence of the influenza which he had contracted in Paris. An impediment in his nasal organs which anybody else but a man as busy as the president would have had removed long ago interfered slightly with breathing. Added to that was the general debility of the president due to his labors.

"Nervous exhaustion" were the words used to describe Mr. Wilson's illness at the outset and they are accurate descriptions today for nothing else has developed and the president has gradually overcome two difficulties—loss of appetite and sleeplessness. His digestive organs are functioning better and there is optimism, indeed, confidence at the white house that Mr. Wilson is going to pull through all right. There's a feeling that he was stopped just in time.

Worst Stage Passed.

No one denies that the president if not checked might have gone on for a week or two and suffered a stroke of paralysis or burst a blood vessel or developed some other infirmity as a consequence of his shattered nerves. But he hasn't shown any symptoms of any of these things and the point has been reached where they are not expected to develop.

Of course, if the president whose improvement has been gradual were to get up too soon any of the things cited above which had been originally feared might suddenly overtake him. But he isn't going to be permitted to get up too soon. His doctors have virtually confined him to seclusion for several weeks and it will be three or four weeks before they will let him talk business or transact business on a even then on a very small quantity basis.

But as for the rumors that are going the rounds of clubs, firesides and social circles generally about the nature of the president's illness I am able to state on authority that would hardly be questioned if disclosed that none of the men attending the president believe Woodrow Wilson will be less vigorous mentally when he gets out of bed than he was when he set out on his western trip.
